Kernel was called by the board to fill the vacancy occurring when Miss Virginia Dougherty, editor since last February, entered the university as a graduate student, thereby becoming incligible for the position.
The election of the Kentuckian officers resulted from the discovery of a technical error in the election last March. Frank Stone has been acting-editor since he was declared the successful candidate for the posi-tion at the spring election. Mr. Hilliard was not a candidate at the election in March.

Shipwreek Kelly Has Reneged

Sports scribes and football coaches at Knoxville last Thanksgiving were quite unanimous in one opinion: Shipwreck Kelly had been under-during their first three weeks of practice. This was unexpected for before the game they had maintained practice a hot sun beat down on rated. This was unexpected for before the game they had maintained that he was a highly touted, over-publicized halfback. Stories of the prowess and sportsmanship of Kelly were spread all over the Tennessee papers-and in splte of the fact that Kentucky lost the game.

Little has been said about the Shipwreek this fall. And you'd be sursed to know why. Has he become stale and fallen in with the ordiprogram is over, as another pro- filinging horseshoes has showed a nary run of backs? Not on your life. He has chosen to stay in the back-

> Some two weeks ago, "Ole Timer," veteran sports writer of the Atlanta Journal was in Lexington to look over the Wildeats and get some pictures for his paper. Knowing that Kelly was highly regarded, he asked him to pose. Kelly refused and walked away.. "Ole Timer" took some pictures of other members of the squad and went to his side of the field.

Later, Kelly trotted over and apologized:

CAPT WRIGHT, TACKLE

"I didn't mean to be rude," he sald.. "But some people think I had rather have my pleture made than to make yards.. I'm sorry, but I'd rather you'd leave me out."

That night "Ole Timer wired his story to The Atlanta Journal for all the South to read. And one paragraph included just this:

"Kelly is the fastest man on any Conference team, a real 9 4-5 second sprinter, with splay feet, good spirit, little shiftiness and no luck whatever. Personally, I have deep affection for this child of misfortune. He service of Bob Elder for at least the is true blue, though he nearly always says the wrong thing and does the wrong thing. Some of these days, his genius is going to get a fair mage during the first week of pracchance, and he is going to do the right things, and he is going to make tice. Elder plays guard, and is one the opposition look like rheumatic old washerwomen. I hope to be there of Coach Kemper's hopes for a good when it happens for John Kelly is as fine and as clean a boy, and as modest and game a battler as ever guessed wrong 99 times out of 100."

We See a Nigger in the Woodpile

The Kernel is indebted to Bob Rule, sports editor of The Maryville Highlander, for the story appearing on today's sport page in connection more will be found out when the with the Maryville-Kentucky game Saturday. Bob modestly requests that his name be left off the story and we wouldn't tell for anything that

Between the lines of this article we find an important side issue: MARYVILLE IS EXPECTING KENTUCKY TO BE TOUGHER THAN TENNESSEE. Not that it means anything, but Kentucky beat Maryville three points more than Tennessee last fall.

Laugh with the rest, if you will, but the Wildeats should be stronger than Tennessee this year.. The Vols were had hit by graduation.. True, they had a marvelous freshman team last year-the best in the South, mobilized by a pre-season stampede of some kind. But freshmen are freshmen and not varsity-tried veterans. They are like amateurs making their entrance into the professional class, ambitious but not accustomed to stepping in fast company.

Kentucky has seven weather-beaten seniors, making their last fight for the Blue and White-all letter men and fit material for Southern honors. They are Kelly, half; Richards, full; Phipps, full; Urbaniak, half; Cavana, end; Captain Wright, tackle, and Andrews, tackle.

Tennessee sports writers this year say Maryville has one of the strongest teams in history. They won five of their nine games last year and their defeats included Tennessee and Kentucky. They beat Mars Hill, 54 to 0; Tennessee Wesleyan, 19 to 6; Carson Newman, 14 to 0; Milligan, 39 to 0, and Lenoir-Rhyne, 13 to 7.

Looking Over the

By NICHOLAS WINN WILLIAMS Everybody is going to college; some go, I assume, for the pursuit of learning; others in order to cultivate all the qualities which go with the slang phrase of being "college." Regardless of the pur-pose the tendency is toward mass education. It seems that the more the modern university is criticized the more students attend. Apparently we are not worried by the question asked "College or Kindergarten?" Too frequently people are content with the observation go because we go.

Thirdly, Emil Luditage from the mother country, its son over here to college because of youth." come together in close and friendly communion." In this day of apparent intellectual complacency it is good to see a man wax animated and enthusiastic. Mr. Ludwig has designs into which he shall place his boys to listen to this: "Some evening my twenty-year-old son will ascend to the highest pinnacle of the city of New York and in 1943 there will be none much higher souls, and he will ponder on the civil necessity which forces these millions to live so herded together; he will ask himself if these things cannot be changed and bettered.

Continuing the trend of thought in regard to the university the reader of current magazines may find an article of interest in this week's issue of the New York Times Magazine. It is written by Henry Noble MacCracken, President of Vassar College, who is searching for contrasts and similarities in "University Ideais: Ours and the British. The comparison between the tu-torial plan as used in Great Britain and the rather dissimilar plan of procedure found in the American schools has long been a stimulating question. Mr. MacCracken records some valuable statistics. For an exampie, he says "During this month perhaps 45,000 students will attend 58 universities and university colleges in Great Britain. A nerve system for energetic skyscrapers

Long before the huge bulk of a new skyscraper looms up, Bell System men have planned its nerve system - the maze of telephone cables and wires so vital to its business activities.

From the inception of a building design, telephone engineers work hand in hand with the architects. They determine the telephone needs of thousands of future tenants. Then they plan cable shafts rising from cellar to roof and the grid of under-floor ducts that will put telephones within easy reach of every occupant.

There's a real thrill in working out these plans, for without telephones the immense structures of today would hardly be practicable.

Jap Boy Started Football at Maryville in Early Nineties

MARYVILLE, Tenn. - Tradition day none other than Judge M. H. as it that way back in the early nineties, a smail, squint-eyed Japanese boy, who was a student at Maryville College at that time, sat in his lamp-lighted room and, by the use of grains of corn, which he used to represent two football teams, made plans for the first gridiron team that ever represented Maryville College.

Tales of the exploits of this great old team can easily be heard if you will only get some of the old timers to talking. They like to tell of the famous "flying wedge" formation that was employed by the little Japanese boy and which, it is said, netted the old Maryville team many a touchdown.

Dean's Dog Visits

Rebel, the fine old Shepherd dog belonging to Dean Boyd, ailayed the anxious fears of the Book Store employees as to his whereabouts, when he wandered in Thursday morning and paid his first visit of the year. Rebel, who for many years has been a frequent vistior at the Bookstore and a well-known figure on the campus, had neglected to renew his acquaintance with his friends in the basement of McVey hall, and they had begun to wonder if they had been dropped from his calling list.

As if to rebuke them for their suspicions, the grand old fellow wandered in, shook hands cordially with Mr. Morris, waved his tail in greeting to the other people in the vicinity of the bookstore and ambled out again. Though a "doggy" fellow he doesn't forget his friends.

Little has been said this year of 'Shipwreck" Kelly, but he is there just the same. His work is just as brilliant, if not more so, than it has been in the past. Because he can be depended on to come through. the coaches have been working harder on several of the reserve and weaker backs. Kelly is a capable triple-threat man; he passes punts better, and runs best.

Johnson is due to Ellis through. As the brains of the team n action he will be watched closey. Every mistake of the team will revert back onto him as did the faults of last year's team crash about the head of Carey Spicer. Last year Johnson was indisposed most of the time. With the new season and a good summer's rest he is in first class shape.

The boy from Denver, Dick Richards, is playing blocking back. And don't think he isn't tough. Monday afternoon during tackling practice a feat seldom accomplished.

For the past two seasons Urbaniak has been seen in action only running was excellent. His trouble was pass defense, and the coaches couldn't trust him against a team that had a passing attack. Now see service in all the games. past year.

Wade says that it wasn't his line that lost the game. It was his backfield. And now the backs are all on the earpet. All kinds of changes and shifts are being tried to perfect a scoring machine with punch.

Duke ran the ball to the Gamecocks 15-yard line and then rieided on downs. That's unusual for one of Wade's teams. The old scoring power just wasn't there.

Kenneth Abbott, 144-pound former Kiski prep star, seems to be the best of the Blue Devil backs, and a lightweight hardly fits into the Wade scheme of things

But now it stacks up like this: Both teams has a strong defense and Virginia Military admittedly has the strongest backfield. Still, Duke should win. The Blue Devils are hard to beat when they are in their own beautiful stadium. We can remember a cool afternoon in Durham last fall. Sitting above the stands in the press box, munching free ham sandwiches and wondering what the folks back home were thinking about the Wildcats being behind at the half. A boy dressed in a devil's costume was cutting antics on the field in front of the Duke band. We wonder now what sort of antics he cut last Saturday with Duke behind at the half.
